COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

I would like to mention again the evening that I will be in the town office to accept voter registration. On Friday evening Oct. 31 from 7:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. I will be in the town office to register persons who are not registered and who can not get to the office on the regular office hours. Anyone else who is not registered may register any day during the regular office hours. Voting is a privilege that many people in the world do not have. I believe that every eligible voter should register and vote. If the privilege to vote was ever taken away, people would then realize how important it is to become acquainted with the candidates and issues and take the time to cast their ballots on election day.

The highway crew was taking very good headway in the sandpile for winter and had one day of work to finish the job. The loader broke down and the sewer on Church Street plugged and there is still one day of work left on the winter sand. I am looking for more plugged sewers because of the very dry condition of the ground. Tree roots are seeking moisture and the sewer lines are about the only place to get it.

Most of the early taxpayers have been in to pay their tax bills and the rate of collection has slowed down a bit. Roughly 10% of the tax commitment has been paid. This can not be fairly compared with previous years collections due to the late date that the bills were sent out.

STEPHEN R. CONANT
OXFORD COUNTY SHERIFF

South Paris, Maine
October 28, 1964

To Oxford County Voters:

My 20 year record as a law enforcement officer here in Oxford County is pretty well known. I tried to use common sense in enforcing the law. My reputation for being fair, considerate and courteous is well established. Even after making literally hundreds of arrests over the years, I had very few enemies when I retired from the Maine State Police. Most of the persons whom I arrested are now my friends and supporters because I did not let my officer-violator relationships become a personal matter. I had a job to do and I did it. It is as simple as that.

Being your Sheriff for two years has not changed my enforcement philosophy. It has only extended it. I have tried to instill this policy in each of my deputies because I believe it is right!

VOTE for Ability Training Experience

My record as Sheriff is good; nobody seems in question that. We have not solved every crime reported to us, but we have tried. Our arrest record, the high jail population, the number of persons committed to other correctional institutions and placed on probation bear this out.

A politically inspired rumor has it that I am not really interested in being reelected. This is not true! As a career police officer, I would like very much to continue as your Sheriff here in Oxford County where I feel I can put my training, experience, ability and knowledge of the area and its people to the most good. I want the job for myself. I want the job for my deputies, all of whom my opponent has promised to replace. And I want the job in the interest of good law enforcement and good government!

ALLEGATIONS RAMPANT
SHRIEVALTY CONTEST

Charges and denials have marked the race for Sheriff of Oxford County this week.

Democratic candidate for sheriff, Lester "Bud" Horton of Albany charged early this week that one of the 32 special policemen sworn in Oct. 17
had a criminal record.

Horton said the deputy who had a criminal record, had been convicted of carrying a concealed weapon without a permit. "I have documented evidence," he said.

Asked to identify the man, Horton answered, "I feel the deputy should have been investigated. He Sheriff Stephen Conant had had more than a year and should have had more forethought than to hire every Tom, Dick and Harry."

Sheriff Conant replied, "I don't believe it. All of the deputies have been thoroughly investigated and I know the man whose sheriff James Lancaster had checked on applicants in 1960, which I have reported."

On Tuesday Horton stated
"Since Conant has even let state that he doesn't believe my word."

WOODS IN GOOD CONDITION
FOR HUNTING

Hunting conditions in the Maine woodlands are rapidly improving as recent frosts have brought down much of the foliage.

Fish and Game Commissioner Russell T. Speers reports that hunters are finding good numbers of game birds, but the heavy crop of frosts and nuts is holding the partridge deeper in the woods than they are usually found at this time of year.

The commissioner has requested all hunters to be careful about smoking in the woods.
While there is no serious fire danger, he says, hunters should be careful not to start fires. "I that he has just appointed a special deputy with a criminal record and says he states that all of the new appointees were thoroughly investigated. I can only repeat the charge that I have documented evidence that one of the new appointees has a criminal record. If Conant has thoroughly investigated them and he states that he has then I can only assume that this investigation is typical of most of his investigations and the state's prior my word."

HUNTERS WARNED ABOUT RABIES AREAS

Hunters entering the woods in the rabies epidemic area of Franklin and Oxford Counties should be aware of the threat of rabies and take precautions, the Health and Welfare department states.

The chief precaution that is indicated, the department said, is to make sure that any dogs taken into the area have been vaccinated recently against rabies. The department wants to avoid having the disease spread into vaccinated dogs which might be bitten.

Bird hunting is legal in that area and deer hunting became legal Oct. 21 in some of the area and Nov. 1 in the rest.

Special rabies tags must be attached to the collars of all dogs, resident or transient, in these areas and owners of dogs which have had recent vaccinations can get these tags from any town clerk in the epidemic area.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY CAN CAUSE HUNTING ACCIDENTS

In a 1964 deer hunting area on Saturday Oct. 15 in the northern zone, and the Maine Fish and Game Department urged hunters to double-check their targets before firing.

Last year, there were 14 accidents where the victim was mistaken for game—six were fatal. The department's hunting safety officer, Dean S. Jordan, says that this type of accidents can be eliminated if the hunter will take a second to make sure that his target is legal and not human.

The way to make sure that you are not mistaken for game is to wear a hunter, according to Jordan, is to wear some fluorescent blaze orange or neon red clothing while afield. Deer can't see these colors since they are color-blind, but another hunter will be able to spot you for a distance, even in the conditions of poor visibility.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith.—(1 John 5:4).
Your faith should increase and become stronger as you grow in understanding. The more you know of God, the more you follow and practice the truth. And when your faith is solidly based it becomes transcendent.
